Acknowledgments

I am sincerely grateful to the following colleagues for reviewing portions of the original draft: Claire V. Brisson, BS, MLIS, A.G.[®]; Sharon DeBartolo Carmack, MFA, CG; Harold Henderson, CG; J. Mark Lowe, CG, FUGA; Raymond C. Niro, MLIS, MEd, CG; Alice Hoyt Veen, CG.

My deepest gratitude is extended to all the archivists and librarians at the six state historical societies who made innumerable document retrievals and answered countless questions to ensure this finding aid is as complete as possible.

I assume sole responsibility for all errors.

Introduction

Diaries offer unique insights into daily life and travel in any time period and in any location. Diaries provide material useful to genealogists and historians:

Many diaries include vital events (mostly deaths); a few include family genealogies.

Travel diaries offer descriptions of taverns, inns, roads, water routes, travel expenses, modes of transportation, and descriptions of places visited. Some include hand-drawn images of scenery, or maps of areas visited.

Early twentieth-century trip diaries detail interstate journeys by bicycle or by auto.

Non-travel diaries often include short business or pleasure trips.

Military diaries might have lists of casualties, or member names of a company or a regiment.

Ministers' diaries sometimes contain baptisms, marriages, and funerals.

Teachers' diaries occasionally recorded the names of their students.

Mariners' diaries provide descriptions of ship-board life and foreign lands.

Preprinted diaries may include personal accounts in the back of the book, offering a glimpse of prices in the time and location of the diarist.

ABOUT THIS BOOK

This book is an inventory only of manuscript diaries. The purpose of this inventory is to provide a more complete record of diaries than can be found using the online catalogs of the six historical societies. Many diaries listed in card catalogs, paper finding aids, and online finding aids are not listed in the online catalogs. This inventory, and the methods in which the data are sorted, furnishes researchers with a more complete selection of sources enabling them to deliver a better-informed paper.

This book provides basic information for more than 8,900 diaries, of which only 2,700 appear in the

By spending just a few minutes examining this book, you are—in effect—searching forty linear feet of manuscript paper finding aids, more than 1,600 online finding aids, 3,800 paper catalog cards, and 2,700 online catalog entries. Going forward, to locate new catalog entries, search the online catalog (if possible) for all diaries entered after 2018.

Taken collectively, the diaries in the six New England state historical societies provide an invaluable source for examining the daily lives of New England residents. Anyone writing a paper about an individual or a community will benefit from consulting manuscript collections of all types.

Note: Onsite work for this inventory finished in February 2020. Sorting the data (as described above) revealed minor issues with a few of the entries. Restrictions during the current (2020–2021) pandemic prevented me from revisiting some of the societies to resolve the issues. Therefore, there are a few blank spots in the tables below, a few items where the dates and location seemed questionable, and some possible duplicate entries. There are fewer than thirty five of these minor issues.

Rhode Island Historical Society

121 Hope Street Providence, RI 02906-2028
www.rihs.org

The society is open Wednesday through Friday 10 AM to 5 PM, and the second Saturday of each month 10 AM to 5 PM. Admission is free for members, Rhode Island residents, and children under 12. The non-member fee is $8/day for out-of-state residents, and $5/day for out-of-state students. Photocopies are 25¢/page. For information about long distance photocopies, send a query to reference@rihs.org. Manuscript pull times are 10:30 AM, 11:30 AM, 2 PM, and 3 PM. The online catalog is at <http://rihs.minisisinc.com>, and the list of online manuscript finding aids is at www.rihs.org/library/master-list-of-finding-aids/. For current hours and fees, or for additional information, visit www.rihs.org/library/.

Catalogs and finding aids at the repository or online may contain more details than provided here. If the finding aid or catalog provided sufficient detail to describe a diary, the diary was not examined. Unless otherwise specified, all place-names are in Rhode Island.

REQUESTING MANUSCRIPTS

Each historical society has its own unique call number system. To view an item, you will need to fill out an “Item Request Slip.” Each request slip requires specific information: call number, collection name, box number, folder number, and item description. This information is provided in the tables below.
